

Head Coach, Sweden Men's National Team – Swedish Table Tennis Association

Do you want to lead Sweden's top male table tennis players to international success? The Swedish Table Tennis Association is now recruiting a Head Coach for the Swedish Men's National Team.

About the Role

As Head Coach of the Men's National Team, you will have overall responsibility for planning, leading, and developing the national team's activities. The role extends far beyond coaching and competition—it is about building a strong high-performance culture that succeeds both in individual events and team competitions, where every player contributes to the team's success.

You will be responsible for creating an environment characterised by clarity, trust, accountability, and high ambitions. You will lead a national team consisting of players competing at the highest international level and must be able to manage different personalities, strong characters, and high expectations. You are a leader who can foster team cohesion while helping individuals understand the value of pursuing shared goals.

You will work strategically and with a long-term perspective on player development, performance optimisation, and international competitiveness, while building trust and making clear decisions whenever required.

We Are Looking for Someone Who

- Has an excellent understanding of what it takes to perform and win at the highest international senior level.
- Either has an international elite playing career combined with documented education and experience in leadership,
- or is a highly experienced coach with a proven track record of long-term success at the international senior elite level.
- Has experience leading individuals with high ambitions and strong personalities—or has personally competed at that level—and has the ability to build trust, inspire motivation, and create a shared sense of purpose.
- Is confident in their leadership, communicates clearly and consistently, and is prepared to make decisions even in challenging situations.

We also value candidates with a broad international network and a strong understanding of developments within international table tennis.

We Offer

One of the most exciting leadership opportunities in Swedish sport, where you will have the chance to develop a national team with outstanding international potential. You will play a key role in the Swedish Table Tennis Association's high-performance programme, helping shape both today's results and the future of Swedish men's table tennis.
